Although there is no specific statutory corporate governance code applicable to Irish collective investment schemes whose shares are admitted to trading on the Irish Stock Exchange ("ISE"), the Irish Funds Industry Association ("IFIA") has published a corporate governance code ("IFIA Code") that may be adopted on a voluntary basis by Irish authorised collective investments schemes. This code became effective from 1 January 2012, with a twelve month transitional period. It should be noted that the IFIA Code reflects existing corporate governance practises imposed on Irish authorised collective investment schemes, as noted above.

On 19 December 2012 the Board of Directors voluntarily adopted the IFIA Code as the Company's corporate governance code. The Board of Directors has assessed the measures included in the IFIA Code as being consistent with its corporate governance practises and procedures for the financial period. The code is available at www.sanlam.ie.

Not less than twenty one days' notice of every annual general meeting and any meeting for the passing of a special resolution must be given to shareholders and fourteen days' notice must be given in the case of any other general meeting unless the auditors of the Company and all the shareholders entitled to attend and vote agree to shorter notice.

The business of the Company is managed by the Directors, who exercise all such powers of the Company as are not required in accordance with the Companies Acts or the Articles of Association to be exercised by the Company in a general meeting.

A Director may, and the Company Secretary of the Company on the requisition of a Director will, at any time summon a meeting of Directors. Questions arising at any meeting of Directors are determined by a majority of votes. In the case of quality of votes, the chairman has a second or casting vote. SAMI has been appointed the Alternative Investment Fund Manager ("AIFM") to the Company and its Funds pursuant to the European Union (Alternative Investment Fund Managers) Regulations 2013 (the "AIFM Regulations"). ECONOMIC & MARKET REVIEW

for the six months ended 30 June 2015

Global Economic Review

Available data suggests global real GDP growth lifted in 2Q15, following the decidedly soft outcome recorded in 1Q15, although this partly reflects an improvement from a weak base. Indeed, the global all-industry PMI suggests the global economy is expanding at a moderate pace only. Specifically, the manufacturing output PMI softened significantly in 2Q15 and is consistent with low single digit global industrial production growth.

Among developed economies, recovery in Europe continued through the first half of 2015, but at a subdued pace. Eurozone GDP advanced by some 1.5% annualised in 1Q15, similar to the outcome for 4Q14.

Nonetheless, attention in the Eurozone remained focused on unfolding events in Greece where the risk of Greece exiting the European Monetary Union increased materially as 2Q15 drew to a close, given the dissolution of negotiations between Greece and its creditors and a missed payment of EUR1.5 billion owed to the IMF on 30 June 2015. Subsequently, the European Central Bank (ECB) limited Emergency Liquidity Funding (ELF) to Greek banks to a level of EUR89 billion. Concomitantly, Greece imposed capital controls and rationed cash withdrawals from Greek banks.

Elsewhere, among developed countries, US GDP fell outright by 0.2% annualised in 1Q15, although this partly reflected adverse weather conditions, labour disputes at West Coast ports and a downturn in oil exploration. US data looked brighter in 2Q15, including improvements in home sales and consumer spending against a background of continued decent employment growth and a falling unemployment rate (although labour force participation has waned).

Against the backdrop of stable, low core inflation developed economy central banks have maintained extraordinarily loose monetary policy stances. In Europe, the ECB continued with its expanded asset purchase programme, which began on 9 March 2015, while indicating that it wishes to "see a sustained adjustment in the path of inflation that is consistent with our aim of achieving inflation rates below, but close to, 2% over the medium term".

Elsewhere, the US Federal Reserve continued to signal an expected shift towards a rising policy rate cycle, even though the central tendency of its June 2015 projections show long-run GDP is expected to remain modest at 2.0 per cent to 2.3 per cent, while the annual advance in core PCE inflation is only expected to reach 1.9 to 2.0 per cent by 4Q17.

Given this background the US$, which had appreciated markedly against EUR in the latter half of 2014, continued to strengthen through January and February 2015, before losing some ground in May and June 2015.

Amongst developing economies GDP growth has been disappointing in the first half of 2015, amid poorer productivity growth, weaker corporate profitability, declining terms of trade and increased geo-political tension and risk. Exports have not responded satisfactorily to currency depreciation, given modest global real income growth.

Following the 2008 financial crisis, credit extension growth has also been especially strong in some developing countries, including in China. Against the backdrop of extraordinarily loose monetary policy stances in recent years foreign currency debt issues by emerging market corporations have increased.

As regards China, following disappointing outcomes in the first half of 2015, real economic activity data appeared to stabilise as mid-year approached, notably real retail sales and industrial production. Still, fixed investment spending has remained softer.

Amidst low inflation outcomes, the growth disappointment in the first half of 2015 and a sharp fall in equity prices the People's Bank of China was prompted to cut its benchmark lending and deposit rates by 25bp in June 2015, in addition to lowering its reserve requirement for banks. Concomitantly, regulators intervened in the equity market through measures that include suspension of IPOs and central bank liquidity support for margin financing.

Global Economic Outlook

It is clear that the fiscal austerity programme has proved too onerous for the Greek people against a decidedly weak economic backdrop. In July 2015, leaders of the Eurozone agreed to another bailout package for Greece, including a bridging loan for near term payment commitments (notably to the ECB and IMF) and a new European Stability Mechanism (ESM) programme - conditional upon reform measures being implemented by Greece. Initially, these measures include streamlining the VAT system, broadening the tax base and pension reform. The ECB also extended Emergency Liquidity Assistance (ELA) to Greek banks on 16 July 2015, having frozen the level of this support earlier. Accordingly, Greek banks re-opened on 20 July 2015, but, restrictions on withdrawals were in place, while Greece also maintained capital controls.

Further, the Euro Summit demanded extensive long-term reforms of Greece as a prerequisite to negotiating a new ESM programme, including: product market reforms; monetising assets (including through privatisation) and labour market reform (including modernisation of collective bargaining). It is, however, likely to prove difficult to implement the fiscal austerity package demanded, given the weakness of the Greek economy and the high unemployment rate.

At least, the Euro group has indicated it will consider "possible longer grace and payment periods" to try and ensure that "gross financing needs remain at a sustainable level". However, the group has ruled out nominal haircuts on Greece's debt.

Overall, the fiscal austerity programme may still prove too onerous for the people of Greece. Ultimately, to shift towards greater stability, the Euro area will need to make meaningful progress on establishing a fiscal union between its members. If not, it risks adverse long-term economic consequences.

On growth elsewhere in Europe, the all-industry PMI for the region suggests momentum in GDP should remain positive, albeit modest, provided contagion is contained in the event of a disorderly exit of the Eurozone by Greece. Also, the US appears set for continued moderate expansion in real economic activity.

However, the near term outlook for developing economies remains tepid. The marked decline in the JP Morgan all-industry PMI output index for developing countries in 2Q15 suggests no improvement in growth is imminent amongst emerging market economies. Generally, the credit overhang in developing economies is also likely to act as a constraint on growth.

On balance, the outlook for global real economic activity remains modest as the pattern of alternating weaker and firmer quarters of growth around a moderate mean continues to repeat itself.

Meanwhile, although core inflation, notably in developed countries, remains low and stable, headline inflation is likely to lift in the second half of 2015 – as the impact of lower oil prices fades from the data. But, although concerns around deflation have eased in Europe, the ECB is expected to maintain its current extraordinarily accommodative monetary policy stance for an extended period.

In contrast to the ECB (and the Bank of Japan), the US Federal Reserve is expected to shift towards a less accommodative monetary policy stance – possibly before year-end 2015. In its July 2015 FOMC statement the US Federal Open Market Committee stated: "The Committee anticipates that it will be appropriate to raise the target range for the federal funds rate when it has seen some further improvement in the labour market and is reasonably confident that inflation will move back to its 2 per cent objective over the medium term". Even so, the Fed is expected to proceed cautiously, given that the Committee "currently anticipates that, even after employment and inflation are near mandate-consistent levels, economic conditions may, for some time, warrant keeping the target federal funds rate below levels the Committee views as normal in the longer run".

Market Review

The first quarter of 2015 continued with the oil theme from the end of 2014, which saw the oil price decline further, however this appeared to find a bottom around $50 a barrel, and has subsequently seen a slight drift up in price. The consequence of this fall in the oil price has been that US onshore shale gas rigs have started to shut down, and this is a major factor in closing the global oversupply of oil, which is now estimated to be less than 1% excess, hence equilibrium between supply and demand is now much closer to being achieved. January also saw markets focus on the Greek elections and while there was initial concern about Syriza's victory and their rhetoric. In practice however, the Greek situation has meant there is little room for them to negotiate with the Troika, and so Syriza's stance has been somewhat symbolic for the Greek electorate. That said the importance of Greece and their potential exit from the euro-zone has become increasingly less of an issue, as has the potential contagion effects from that for the rest of the euro-zone. Additional issues during the first quarter were; the harshness of the US winter which impacted US GDP, and consequently the timing of the US Federal Reserve's interest rate hike. There were also concerns about the slowdown of the Chinese economy, and currency movements were also a theme, most noticeably focused on the Swiss franc, which in turn was in advance of the European Central Bank announcing its own quantitative easing program.

The second guarter of 2015 really saw the market focus on four main things. Firstly, the oil price, which had been a theme from recent quarters, appears to have stabilised and moved north of $60 a barrel, only to drift below that post quarter-end. Secondly, and perhaps most importantly, the market continues to anticipate when the US Federal Reserve will raise interest rates, and for the majority of the quarter it looked like the first rise would come in September 2015, the likelihood of this continues to be pushed back and so December 2015 could turn out to be the month when the first interest rate rise is implemented. However, the market continues to be uncertain as to when this first hike will come, and this remains a point of discussion and uncertainty. Thirdly, as the quarter progressed the issues around Greece gained increased attention, which has significantly dented current market confidence and was a material contributor to the market declines seen in June. The snap referendum in the first weekend of July, and subsequent "No" vote - a rejection of further austerity, at the time of writing, has failed to resolve the deadlock, though ultimately a resolution and agreement between both sides remains possible. Finally, and perhaps less obvious to many is that there have been significant gyrations in the domestic Chinese equity market. These events have led Chinese authorities to recently announce some measures to help support the market, to try and manage and contain any effects to the wider Chinese economy and domestic sentiment. It remains unclear whether these measures will be successful and what the impact on the Chinese economy will be.

Equity Market Review

For the first quarter, global equity markets as measured by the MSCI World Index, rose 2.31%. The quarter proved challenging with intra-quarter movements once again providing some meaningful differences. January was a volatile month which saw markets continuing the fall from December with an aggressive fall in the first week of the quarter, this reversed somewhat during the rest of January and so the month ended with a return of -1.81%.

The recapture of the initial losses in the quarter continued strongly in February with a very strong and consistent month, resulting in a return of 5.86%. March was in many regards a repeat of January where markets started off poorly dropping roughly -3.4%, followed by a strong recovery into the third week of the month recouping all the losses month to date. During the final week of March markets turned down once again and ended the month -1.57% behind.

Overall it was a strong quarter for most regions with the only exception being North America which was up only 0.76%. Japan led the regions with a very strong quarterly return of 10.21%, this was at least partly due to tailwinds of the Japanese GPIF's move into stocks, an expectation of wage increases and some improvement in corporate performance. Europe also experienced a strong quarter with new market optimism in the region which can largely be attributed to the start in quantitative easing, resulting in a rise of 3.45%. Emerging Markets under-performed Developed Markets for the quarter with a return of 2.24%, although the two effectively performed in line with each other.

While the oil price has recovered marginally, the Energy sector continued its decline and returned -3.97% for the quarter after significant declines in the last six months of 2014. The only other sector to produce a negative return over a strong quarter in world markets was Utilities that returned -5.12%, which had been one of the best performing sectors in 2014. The strongest performing sector for the quarter was Health Care which returned 8.29%, followed by Consumer Discretionary which returned 5.83%. Consumer Staples, Industrials, Information Technology, Materials and Telecommunication Services all returned in the region of 2% over the quarter. Of the positive returning sectors Financials was the poorest performing sector with a return of only 0.75%.

For the second quarter, global equity markets, as measured by the MSCI World Index, rose 0.31%. The market moved around quite a bit in April, but was on a general upward trend, ending up in a 2.35% gain for the month. May started more cautiously, but still resulted in the market drifting upwards by 0.34% for the month. June, even from the start saw the market mood become more pessimistic, and despite a bounce in the middle of the month, the concerns towards the end of the month overwhelmed everything leading to a decline of -2.35%, and thus resulting in the broadly flat quarter. To the end of June, global equity markets were then up by around 2.6%.

Looking at the regional equity markets, Japan once again led the way rising by over 3% for the quarter. Meanwhile Europe slightly out-performed North America with returns of 0.36% and 0.11% respectively. The Pacific excluding Japan was the material laggard with a decline of -2.48% over the period. Emerging Markets out-performed this region, and both Europe and North America, with a return of 0.69%, and consequently out-performed Developed Markets for the quarter. On a year-to-date basis Japan has risen almost 14%, while Europe is up nearly 4%, and North America and Pacific excluding Japan are up, but each by less than 1%; Emerging Markets are under-performing Developed Markets by about -1% to the end of June.

At a sector level only four of the ten sectors produced positive returns for the quarter. Telecommunication Services led the way with a rise of 3.40%, while Financials gained 1.63%, and Health Care and Consumer Discretionary rose 1.52% and 1.12% respectively. Of the declining sectors Information Technology was the least poor, with a fall of only -0.39%, while Materials and Consumer Staples declined by less than -1%. Industrials fell by -1.09%, and Energy by -1.15%, while Utilities were the weakest global sector falling by - 2.92%. Year-to-date Health Care is the best performing sector rising almost 10%, while Utilities is the weakest sector declining nearly -8%. The Energy sector is the only other sector with a negative absolute decline in 2015, with a fall of -5.08%.

Fixed Income Market Review

Global bond markets continued with yet another difficult first quarter. For the quarter global bond markets, as measured by the Barclays Capital Global Aggregate Index, declined by -1.92%. The market produced negative returns in all three months of the quarter. While January was fairly muted with a return of -0.16%, February and March was significantly worse with returns of -0.81% and -0.96% respectively. Non-sovereign markets, while still disappointingly, performed somewhat better than the overall aggregate market, albeit with a more volatile return profile for the period, with the Barclays Capital Global Aggregate Corporate Index producing a return of -1.18% for the quarter. Corporate bonds out-performed the wider bond market in January and February, but were slightly behind in March.

The primary issue facing bond investors over the quarter was the timing of the US Federal Reserve's rise in interest rates, which continues to appear to slip, with some investors continuing to doubt that there will be a rise in 2015. There remains a fine balancing act, and the strength of the US dollar has clearly helped apply some gentle braking to the US economy. The European Central Bank's quantitative easing announcement had been well flagged and hence anticipated in concept by investors, although the fine details of the program were unknown to the announcement. The European Central Bank continues to face a difficult environment and the threat of persistent deflation, which is one of the major reasons why it has embarked on this quantitative easing program. Whilst it is very early days, the raw initial signs are positive in that euro-zone economic activity looks like it is starting to materially improve.

It was a volatile second quarter for global bonds, and there were significant moves, most notably in the German 10-year bund, which saw yields back-up materially from extremely low levels: at their low these reached 7 basis points, but backed up to just shy of 100 basis points during the quarter, and ended the period at around 76 basis points. With this type of movement, it was unsurprising that global bond markets, as measured by the Barclays Capital Global Aggregate Index, declined by -1.18% for the quarter – the fourth consecutive quarterly decline. Global bond markets produced a positive return in April with a rise of just over 1%, but this was more than wiped out in May with a decline of -1.79%. In June markets once again declined, but by a more moderate -0.44%. As a result of these movements global bond markets have fallen by more than -3% in 2015 so far, and have declined by more than -7% in the last twelve months.

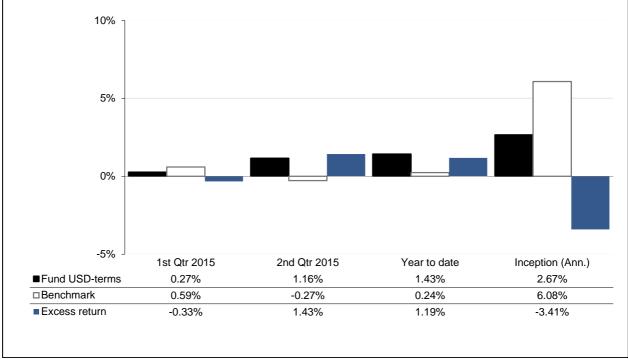

Turning to corporate bonds, the Barclays Capital Global Aggregate Corporate Index returned -1.55% for the second quarter, which like the wider market saw a positive return in April, followed by declines in May and June, although the extent of the fall in these two months was much more similar at around -1.15%. Bond investors remain focused upon the timing of the US Federal Reserve's first interest rate hike, and quantitative easing by the European Central Bank and Bank of Japan. The Chinese Central Bank has also continued to ease during the quarter with two 0.25% interest rate cuts, with one in May and one in late June. This leaves the Chinese deposit rate at 2% at the end of the period.

Investment Objective

The investment objective of Analytics International Flexible Fund (the "Fund") is to provide long-term capital growth by diversifying investments across various asset classes providing the opportunity for real capital growth. The Fund will not have any particular geographic or sectoral focus and intends to invest principally in transferable securities in the form of cash and/or cash equivalents, global equities, real estate investment trusts, global bonds, global equity linked securities which are listed on Recognised Markets.

Fund Performance

Note: Fund benchmark is 60% MSCI All Country World / 40% Citigroup WGBI. Performance figures longer than 12 months are annualised. Figures are quoted gross of Investment Manager and AIFM fees.

The Fund recovered well in Q2 2015 and delivered a pleasing return that was well in excess of its benchmark. The improved performance over the quarter was a result of the Fund's exposure to the global equity market. The trailing one year returns are still negative though, as a result of the disappointing performance in the second half of 2014. The year-to-date performance in 2015 is encouraging thus far.

Fund Outlook

The performance of the Fund over the last 6 months has been pleasing both from a nominal and a benchmark-relative point of view. This is a welcome development following the negative impact in the second half of 2014 of the plunge in the price of Brent Crude oil. The improved performance was mainly a result of the significant exposure in the Fund to the global equity market, even though some of that exposure was to the global energy sector. There was also a pleasing positive contribution to performance in the first half of the year from the exposure in the Fund to higher yielding bonds. The return for the Fund in June was again negative as global markets moved down as a result of the uncertainty in Greece and the significant plunge in the Chinese equity markets. Continued strength in the US dollar is still a concern and the impact on equity and bond markets is expected to persist well into the second half of the year, particularly if the US Federal Reserve is going to raise interest rates in the USA in the second half of 2015.

The positive developments that could lead to the lifting of sanctions against Iran has prompted us to review our explicit exposure to the global energy sector as the lifting of sanctions could possibly put further downward pressure on oil prices. We are now looking at the global listed property sector as a further step in the diversification of this Fund and we will make a decision in this regard during the next quarter.

Sanlam Global Balanced Fund (the "Fund") aims to provide above average long-term capital growth.

Fund Performance

Note: Fund benchmark is 65% MSCI World / 35% Barclays Capital Global Aggregate Bond. Performance figures longer than 12 months are annualised. Figures are quoted gross of Investment Manager and AIFM fees.

The Fund had a disappointing first half of 2015 by posting an absolute return of 0.47%. This meant the Fund under-performed its benchmark (65% MSCI World Index / 35% Barclays Capital Global Aggregate Index), which returned 0.66%, by -0.19%. The Fund under-performed during both quarters in the period. In the first quarter the Fund produced an absolute return of 0.78% while the benchmark returned 0.86%, an underperformance of -0.09%. During the second quarter the Fund underperformed by posting an absolute return of -0.30% and under-performing by -0.10%. Since inception the Fund has returned 4.05% while the benchmark has returned 4.53%, thus the Fund lags its benchmark by -0.48% since inception.

Fund Outlook

Equity markets continued to perform strongly as has been the general case over recent years, and while the first six months of 2015 saw a more modest return, it was another positive period for equities. The equity bull market continues and that means valuations are not cheap, the main likely source of future equity returns will be for companies to deliver earnings growth. Global bond markets experienced a difficult first half of 2015 which saw volatility and yields rise. The second quarter was especially volatile, most notably in the German 10-year bund, which saw yields back-up materially from extremely low levels; at their low these reached 7 basis points, but backed up to just shy of 100 basis points during the quarter, and ended the period at around 76 basis points. In terms of risks, Greece and a possible "Grexit" was a big driver of volatility and negative sentiment in markets during the second quarter, however the fundamental effects of such an exit now looks less likely in the medium term than it did at the end of the quarter and is expected to be limited and relatively contained. Other risks remain in the form of an initiation of US and UK interest rate rising cycles as well as the significant swings that were seen in Chinese equity markets during the second quarter and the possible spill-over effect that a Chinese bear market may have on global markets. On the positive side the global economy continues to heal and central bankers provide the support, which overall means that while the risks have increased there remain reasons for a positive outlook for equities and a more cautious outlook for bonds.

SANLAM GLOBAL BEST IDEAS FEEDER FUND

Investment Objective

The investment objective of Sanlam Global Best Ideas Fund (the "Fund") is to provide above average long-term capital growth by investing primarily in global equities which the Investment Manager has identified as being undervalued and as offering above average growth potential.

Note: Fund benchmark is MSCI World. Performance figures longer than 12 months are annualised. Figures are quoted gross of Investment Manager and AIFM fees.

The nervousness evident in global markets during the first quarter continued into the second. Most of the anxieties uppermost in investors' minds, such as the timing of the first US interest rate hike, the effect of Greece's default on the future of the Euro, the extent of the slowdown of the Chinese economy and questions regarding the progress of Abenomics in Japan, remain unresolved and are likely to continue to subject the markets to mood swings until their probable outcomes become significantly clearer. Given the current level of valuations and the degree of the market's continuing anxiety, it is anticipated that equity returns will continue to exhibit considerable volatility.

The unremitting momentum that has underpinned the substantial outperformance of "growth" shares relative to their "value" counterparts since the middle of last year wavered noticeably during the quarter. Considering the extent of this divergence and the heady valuations now being afforded the market's favoured shares, this was not entirely surprising. We remain of the view, expressed at the end of the previous quarter, that these high valuations are vulnerable to disappointment and that a patient and uncompromising focus on company fundamentals and intrinsic value will ultimately be rewarded.

Notable positive contributions to the fund's performance came from American International Group ("AIG"), Taylor Wimpey, Imperial Tobacco and Renault, while Wal-Mart Stores, Samsung Electronics and Allison Transmission detracted notably from its performance.

Since gaining notoriety as one of the villains and largest beneficiaries of the government funded bailouts during the global financial crisis, AIG has made significant progress along the path of transformation undertaken by the new management team installed in the wake of that upheaval. Its books have been comprehensively cleaned up, insurance reserves have been bolstered, discipline has been restored to its risk underwriting, expense ratios have been improved and it has repaid all of the bailout money.

Yet, despite all of these improvements and the company's exciting prospects, it can be bought at only 80% of its net book value. We believe this represents very attractive value and currently have AIG as the fund's largest holding.

Taylor Wimpey is one of the leading homebuilders in the United Kingdom. The share has performed very well since being added to the portfolio earlier in the year, driven by good results and growing confidence in the durability of the recovery in demand for new homes. The fact that the housing market in the United Kingdom has been chronically undersupplied by new additions for a number of years has recently received extensive media coverage and has become a political talking point. Our analysis has led us to conclude that this situation is likely to persist for some time and that this positions the sector as an attractive one to be exposed to, despite its historic cyclicality.

Based on current consensus expectations the Fund offers a more attractive valuation (fwd P/E: 14.2x vs. 16.7x and P/NAV: 1.8x vs. 2.1x) than the overall market, while producing a better return (ROE: 20.1% vs. 17.3%).

Fund Outlook

Whichever way one looks at it, it is undeniable that asset markets are all trading at or near their all-time high valuations. Interest rates and bond yields are at multi-century lows, equity markets are generally near the top end of their historic valuation ranges and physical assets, such as art, vintage cars, wine and luxury properties, are changing hands for record amounts. All of this is happening against the backdrop of a world vexed by anaemic growth, political turmoil and widespread societal strife. These circumstances do not augur well for the short-term prospect of investment returns. However, given the current state of markets, it appears to us that equities continue to offer the best prospect among a collection of unattractive alternatives.

Sanlam Global Equity Fund (the "Fund") aims to provide above average long-term capital growth.

Fund Performance

Note: Fund benchmark is MSCI World. Performance figures longer than 12 months are annualised. Figures are quoted gross of Investment Manager and AIFM fees.

The first half of 2015 was a good period for the Fund in both absolute and relative terms. For the period, the Fund delivered a positive return of 3.22% while the MSCI World Index produced a return of 2.63%, hence the Fund out-performed by +0.59%. While the Fund under-performed in the first quarter, the second quarter's out-performance more than offset the relative losses. In the first quarter the Fund returned 2.03% while the benchmark returned 2.31%, an underperformance of -0.28%. During the second quarter the Fund returned 1.16% while the benchmark returned 0.31%, an out-performance of +0.85%. Since inception the Fund remains slightly behind its index with an annualised relative return of -0.16%.

Fund Outlook

Equity markets continued to perform strongly as has been the general case over recent years, and while the first six months of 2015 saw a more modest return, it was another positive period for equities. The equity bull market continues and that means valuations are not cheap, the main likely source of future equity returns will be for companies to deliver earnings growth. The market continues to anticipate when the US Federal Reserve will raise interest rates; after the expected rise of June 2015 failed to materialise it looked like the first rise would come in September 2015, the likelihood of this continues to be pushed back and so December 2015 could turn out to be the month when the first interest rate rise is implemented.

In terms of risks, Greece and a possible "Grexit" was a big driver of volatility and negative sentiment in markets during the second quarter, however the fundamental effects of such an exit now looks less likely in the medium term than it did at the end of the quarter and is expected to be limited and relatively contained. Perhaps the biggest concern facing investors at the end of the period in question was China. The Chinese domestic market has seen some significant swings and while it is a relatively contained market, there are some spill-over effects. The ones that concern investors most are the impact on the wider Chinese economy and the potential for an economic slowdown.

There are already enough issues surrounding the Chinese economic growth rate that these latest factors only exacerbate the situation and cause international investors even greater concerns. On the positive side the global economy continues to heal and central bankers provide the support, which overall means that while the risks have increased there remain reasons for a positive outlook for equities. If the global economic picture continues to improve in 2015, then equity markets should end 2015 higher than where they ended mid-year.

Investment Objective

The investment objective of Sanlam Euro Liquidity Fund (the "Fund") is to provide a high degree of safety of principal together with an investment return exceeding that available from cash deposits in Euro. The Fund pursues its investment objective primarily by investing all of its assets in some or all of the classes of shares of the Institutional Euro Liquidity Fund, a sub-Fund of Institutional Cash Series plc (an Irish UCITS open-ended umbrella investment company with variable capital) which in the opinion of the Investment Manager will enable the Fund to achieve its investment objective.

Fund Performance

Note: Fund benchmark is 7 Day LIBID Rate (Euro). Performance figures longer than 12 months are annualised. Figures are quoted gross of Investment Manager and AIFM fees.

For the first half of 2015 the Fund returned -0.36%, while its benchmark, 7 Day Euro LIBID, produced a return of -0.11%, hence the Fund under-performed its benchmark by -0.26% over the period. The Fund under-performed in both the first and second quarter. During the first quarter the Fund returned -0.17% while the benchmark returned -0.05%, an under-performance of -0.12%. In the second quarter the Fund returned -0.20% while the benchmark returned -0.06%, an under-performance of -0.13%. Given the Fund's performance in the first half of 2015, the Fund is now behind the benchmark since inception with an annualised relative return of -0.05%, while in absolute terms the Fund has returned 0.22% since inception.

Fund Outlook

The euro-zone continues to face material challenges in 2015. The recent Greece "Grexit" fears continue to be the main topic of discussion in the market, however the fundamental effects of such an exit now look less likely in the medium term than they did at the end of the quarter, and they are expected to be limited and relatively contained. Volatility and negative sentiment will however remain until it is resolved. With the ongoing Greece problems and other global market risks, such as a slowdown in China, the current accommodative policy remains strongly supported. Unfortunately however, this means that European bond yields are likely to remain at very low absolute levels for the foreseeable future.

Investment Objective

The investment objective of Sanlam Sterling Liquidity Fund (the "Fund") is to provide a high degree of safety of principal together with an investment return exceeding that available from cash deposits in Sterling. The Fund pursues its investment objective primarily by investing all of its assets in some or all of the classes of shares of the Institutional Sterling Liquidity Fund, a sub-Fund of Institutional Cash Series plc (an Irish UCITS open-ended umbrella investment company with variable capital) which in the opinion of the Investment Manager will enable the Fund to achieve its investment objective.

Fund Performance

Note: Fund benchmark is 7 Day LIBID Rate (Sterling). Performance figures longer than 12 months are annualised. Figures are quoted gross of Investment Manager and AIFM fees.

The first two quarters of 2015 were a disappointing period for the Fund. The Fund returned -1.03%, while its benchmark, 7 Day GBP LIBID, produced a return of 0.18%, hence the Fund underperformed its benchmark by -1.21% over the period. This was poor performance from the Fund over the period, exacerbated by the fact that the Fund did not produce a positive return. During the first quarter the Fund returned -0.51% while the benchmark returned +0.09%, an under-performance of -0.60%. For the second quarter the Fund returned -0.53% while the benchmark returned +0.09%, an underperformance of -0.62%. The Fund's since inception return has now turned negative with an annualised return of -0.06%, while the benchmark has returned +0.45%, an under-performance of -0.51%.

Fund Outlook

The concerns around the UK general election in the second quarter of 2015 turned out to be a non-event and the result was positive for markets. The UK economy remains to be one of the stronger and more robust economies and this supports a rate hike by the Bank of England, albeit a rate hike that will most probably only materialize after the US Federal reserve has initiated their rate hiking cycle. However, one should not discount the probability that the UK can implement a rate hike independently of the US, Mark Carney recently opined that such a rate hike could materialize by the turn of the year. Once a rate rising cycle has been initiated it is expected that the peak of the cycle will be lower than historical normalised rates would indicate.

SANLAM GLOBAL LIQUIDITY FUND

Investment Objective

Sanlam Global Liquidity Fund (the "Fund") aims to provide a return consistent with investment in a combination of highly liquid Euro, Sterling and US Dollar Investments.

Fund Performance

Note: Fund benchmark is Composite benchmark (45% US/ 40% EU/ 15% GB). Performance figures longer than 12 months are annualised. Figures are quoted gross of Investment Manager and AIFM fees.

The Fund experienced a disappointing first half of 2015 in both absolute and relative terms. The Fund returned -3.11% while the benchmark (45% 7 Day USD LIBID, 40% 7 Day EUR LIBID and 15% 7 Day GBP LIBID) returned -3.04%, hence an underperformance of -0.07%. The poor relative performance for the period can be attributed to the first quarter where the Fund under-performed by -0.09%. In the first quarter the Fund posted an absolute return of -5.41% while the benchmark returned -5.32%. In the second quarter the Fund returned +2.43% while the benchmark returned +2.41%, an out-performance of +0.02%. The Fund still finds itself behind its benchmark since inception, with a differential of -0.15%.

Fund Outlook

While global risks remain and volatility has increased, the US and UK economic environment continue to improve, therefore 2015 remains the year that the US Federal Reserve is expected to raise interest rates. Rate hikes in the UK are expected to follow those in the US. Currently a rate rise in the UK is priced in for the second quarter of 2016. The expectation of the US raising rates has been put off previously, and at the turn of the year, there was a serious possibility that US interest rates would rise in June 2015, although that failed to materialise. However, it is almost certain that official short-term US interest rates will rise, the question is whether that will begin in 2015 or not. Once a rate rising cycle has been initiated it is expected that the peak of the cycle will be lower than historical normalised rates would indicate. It can be opined with a fair amount of confidence that the ECB will not be raising rates any time soon, rather their accommodative policy is expected to continue throughout 2015 and into 2016. With the recent Greece "Grexit" fears, which continue to be unresolved, the accommodative policy remains strongly supported. The fundamental effects of such an exit now look less likely in the medium term than they did at the end of the quarter and are expected to be limited and relatively contained, however volatility and negative sentiment will remain until it is resolved.

Fund Performance

Note: Fund benchmark is 7 Day LIBID Rate (US Dollar). Performance figures longer than 12 months are annualised Figures are quoted gross of Investment Manager and AIFM fees.

For the second half of 2015 the Fund declined -0.43%, while its benchmark, 7 Day USD LIBID, produced a return of +0.01%, hence the Fund under-performed its benchmark by -0.44%. The Fund underperformed during both quarters in the period. In the first quarter the Fund returned -0.20% while the benchmark returned 0.00%, an under-performance of -0.20%. For the second quarter the Fund returned -0.24%, and under-performed by -0.24%. Since inception the Fund is behind its benchmark with an annualised relative return of -0.13%. The Fund has produced a negative absolute return of -0.05% since inception to investors.

Fund Outlook

The expectation of the US raising rates has been put off previously, and at the turn of the year, there was a serious possibility that US interest rates would rise in June 2015, although that failed to materialise. Therefore rates have continued to be at record low levels. While global risks remain and volatility has increased during the first half of 2015, the US economic environment continues to improve and therefore 2015 remains expected to be the year that the US Federal Reserve is expected to raise interest rates. NFB GLOBAL BALANCED FUND OF FUNDS

Investment Objective

The investment objective of NFB Global Balanced Fund of Funds (the "Fund") is to provide long-term capital growth by diversifying investments across various asset classes providing the opportunity for real capital growth. The Fund will not have any particular geographic or sectoral focus and intends to invest principally in transferable securities in the form of cash and/or cash equivalents, global equities, real estate investment trusts, global bonds, global equity linked securities which are listed on Recognised Markets.

Fund Performance

Note: Fund benchmark is G7 Inflation plus 2%. Performance figures longer than 12 months are annualised. Figures are quoted gross of Investment Manager and AIFM fees.

The Fund is approaching its second anniversary since inception. Since then it has produced a return of 5.9% per annum, in excess of its benchmark return of 3% per annum; this despite the underperformance relative to its benchmark of 3% for 2015 through to the end of June. This is, however, not the investment horizon of the Fund and therefore performance commentary will only be appropriate after September 2016 when the Fund has a three-year track record (please note that the stated investment horizon is five years). The underperformance for the six months to the end of June 2015 can be attributed to two sources: firstly, that the Fund has a balanced risk profile and therefore has limited its global equity exposure to 60% despite having a mandate providing for a potentially larger allocation to equities than this; and secondly that limiting the equity exposure means that other assets classes must be invested in. These asset classes (particularly bonds which are down around 1% for the period and property which is down nearly 4% for the same period) have performed poorly and have had significant allocations made to them (bonds approximately 20% of portfolio value and property approximately 15%).

Fund Outlook

The last year has been a difficult one for the Fund. Equity market returns have been flat to down with the MSCI World Index in USD and total return terms returning around 1.5% and the Stoxx Global Select Dividend 100 index returning a handsome 14% in its base currency terms, euros, but down in USD terms as the euro has weakened significantly against the dollar over the year. The Fund has very nearly 60% of its assets invested in these global equities.

Fixed interest assets have also performed poorly and have not been able to offset equity market weakness. Global government inflation-linked bonds have not been spared from European fixed interest markets weakness and are down around 3% over the last year. The Fund has around 20% of its assets exposed to this instrument set, either directly through an iShares product or indirectly through the PIMCO Unconstrained Bond Fund.

Lastly, global property markets have performed slightly better than global equities but not materially enough to offset euro weakness and/or fixed interest market weakness. These types of assets are up around 1% for the last year and the Fund has 15% exposed to this area of the market, which does represent a significant portion of the Fund's risk budget.

As the global inflation environment remains subdued, any recovery in the above markets and/or instruments will quickly translate into recapturing lost territory.

Fund Performance

Note: Fund benchmark is MSCI World. Performance figures longer than 12 months are annualised. Figures are quoted gross of Investment Manager and AIFM fees.

The Fund returned 4.56% in USD terms over the quarter, outperforming the benchmark MSCI World Index return of 2.63% by 1.93%.

The Fund's outperformance over the first half of 2015 was driven by our overweight exposure to Europe despite heightened risk aversion due to the possibility of Greece exiting the European Monetary Union in the second quarter.

The Fund holdings in United Kingdom, France and Netherlands aided relative performance driven by strong stock picking. European based banks, Barclays and Lloyds Banking Group posted strong returns for the quarter and benefitted relative performance. European credit demand continued to recover over the quarter rising to a 8 year high. Our emerging market exposure, notably in China aided fund relative performance as the market surged.

The beleaguered energy sector benefited fund relative performance driven primarily by stock selection despite the sector market decline. The Fund is overweight the energy sector as we continue to see attractive long term bargains.

Following the collapse in crude prices in the second half of 2014, we have witnessed a stabilization of prices over year to date. Given the demand/supply fundamentals, our opinion is that crude oil prices will converge toward the marginal cost of production over the medium term for North American shale producers of $75-$80 per barrel.

World equities have rallied for the first half year, though returns in the second quarter were modest driven by market turbulence ignited by Greece. Regionally, equities indices diverged significantly. European equities rallied initially driven by economic improvements and policy stimulus, before retreating on the back of Greece. US equities were broadly flat driven by weak economic data. Japan and United Kingdom broadly rallied.

Post the second quarter, Greece accepted stringent conditions of its creditors for a third bailout program following a referendum that rejected the terms which were strongly advocated by the coalition government. Europe has made considerable progress in integrating and stabilizing the financial system to be able to deal with any contagion effect. The European Stability Mechanism has up to €500 billion to help any eurozone economy. The ECB's Long Term Refinancing Operations represents a cheap financing facility to assist banks in times of tight credit as well as the Outright Monetary Transaction for purchases of sovereign bonds. Furthermore, economic conditions in the region continue to improve. European equities continue to trade at attractive valuations based on price to earnings and price to book.

US equities continue to trade at elevated price to trend earnings. Despite the headline market being expensive, we continue to see abundant value opportunities from a bottom up perspective, which makes the market our biggest country exposure. We remain materially underweight the benchmark weight 60%.

Following the precipitous crude oil price decline in recent quarter, we continue to find compelling long term opportunities in the sector. The supply/demand imbalances will prove to be temporary in our opinion despite perception of supply glut. Globally, oil reserves are being depleted at 5% per annum. New reserves outside of US shale have been scarce limited to regions that are too remote to be economic.

Over the medium term, we expect emerging market transportation to be a key driver of oil demand. China for example has been under consuming oil as it currently represents 105 of global oil demand relative to its share of global GDP of 13%. Whilst we anticipate continued volatility in oil market in the short term, we expect crude oil prices to converge to marginal cost of production which encourage continued investment in the sector.

Following the prodigious world equity rally post the global financial crisis, headline equity valuation remain fair as they trade near their long term averages. We continue to witness divergent valuations regionally with markets such as the US trading at high levels whilst Europe continues to trade at attractive levels.

The normalization of US interest rate will likely induce market volatility and expose the vulnerability of equity markets trading at high levels as well as sectors that have benefitted from the environment of financial repression. This environment will refocus investors to business fundamentals which should be favourable to value investors.

SANLAM BIFM GLOBAL FIXED INCOME FUND

Investment Objective

The investment objective of Sanlam BIFM Global Fixed Income Fund (the "Fund") is to provide income and capital appreciation over the long term. The Fund invests in offshore bonds including both Government and corporate to achieve the Fund's objective.

Fund Performance

Note: Fund benchmark is Barclays Capital Global Aggregate Bond. Performance figures longer than 12 months are annualised. Figures are quoted gross of Investment Manager and AIFM fees.

The Fund returned -2.34% over the first half of 2015, outperforming the benchmark Barclays Aggregate Bond Index return of -3.08% by 0.73%. Fund performance was driven primarily by our overweight exposure to Global high yield bonds and lower fund duration.

Global bond markets were characterized by high volatility particularly in the Eurozone. The 10 year German bond rallied following the European Central Bank willingness to purchase bonds up to the deposit rate, currently -0.25%, over the first quarter. The 10 year German bond reversed the yield decline to record lows of 0.05% in April to close the quarter at 0.77%. The continued improvement in unemployment rate to 5.3% from 5.5% in the first quarter resulted in the 10 US yield increasing by 20% to 2.32% at the end of the second quarter. We anticipate that bond market volatility will continue as global central bank's monetary policy normalizes.

Fund Outlook

Global bond valuations remain unattractive on an absolute basis, and relative to global equities driven mainly by accommodative monetary policies of global central banks which have driven yields to current low levels. The US Federal Reserve Bank is expected to start to hiking interest rates this year as the economy continues to improve. The US unemployment rate has fallen from 10% in 2009 to the 5.3% indicating that much progress has been made. European Central Bank and Bank of Japan accommodative monetary policy will remain, indicating their stage of economic recovery.

Our strategy continues to be underweight development sovereign bonds and overweight investment grade and global high yield which continue to offer relative value.

Overall, given current market valuations, we continue to expect that overall sovereign bond yields will have limited upside from these levels, as economic recovery gathers pace. Global bonds will continue to exhibit a high degree of volatility in the medium term due to the current environment of financial repression and fiscal policy uncertainty.

MPILE GLOBAL EQUITY FUND

Investment Objective

Mpile Global Equity Fund (the "Fund") aims to achieve capital appreciation in the long term by investing primarily in offshore markets. The objective of the Fund is to outperform its benchmark by selecting equity funds that follow value investing principles which seek to capture mispricing opportunities relative to intrinsic values.

Fund Performance

Note: Fund benchmark is MSCI World Index. Performance figures longer than 12 months are annualised. Figures are quoted gross of Investment Manager and AIFM fees.

The Fund outperformed the benchmark during the second quarter. For the first half of the year, the Fund underperformed the benchmark, posting a return of 0.66% against the benchmark's return of 2.63%. The Fund's performance recovered in the second quarter despite the concerns over the looming Greek crises.

For the first six months of the year, consumer staples, healthcare and financial sectors contributed positively to the Fund's performance while energy stocks were the main detractors to the performance. Given that most economies were still recovering from the 2008 financial crisis, consumer discretionary stocks did not fare well and were also a detractor.

Regionally, Western Europe and Asia Pacific fared well while North America's poor performance for the first quarter weighed down its overall contribution. The US economy expanded in the second quarter by 2.3% as opposed to the contraction of 0.2% experienced in the first quarter. France and Japan were the main bright spots posting strong growth. France's consumers had increased spending thereby stimulating the economy's growth while the devalued Yen in Japan spurred growth in tourism and exports with the Japanese economy growing by 3.9% annualized in the first quarter.

Fund Outlook

With the most recent occurrence of the Greek Debt Crisis now on the cusp of being resolved, there are several factors that we expect will help boost the performance of European equities:

- The forward P/Es for European stocks at around 15 are cheaper compared to the US equities at around 17.5.
- We are now entering the fifth month of quantitative easing by the European Central Bank and with the crisis fully resolved, excess capital from the bond repurchases may be redirected to the equities market.
- The weak Euro will boost exports which should boost the earnings of European stocks.

The picture is not all rosy however, as Russia remains in recession, and amongst the other BRIC nations, only the Indian economy seems to be coming out of a slumber. Furthermore, the focus will shift to the situation in China which has been overshadowed by the Eurozone crisis. The steep fall in the Chinese equities market has been arrested due to unorthodox interventions by the authorities. A keen look at company fundamentals will follow and once the interventions are removed, the volatile situation may return until the market settles at its true value position. A stuttering Chinese stock market may indicate underlying problems with the Chinese economy, and as a major market for EU and US stocks this would reintroduce volatility and losses into the global capital markets.

The market anticipates the Fed to raise interest rates before the end of the year but recent data is pointing towards weakness in the economy. The June jobs report had mixed signals with an addition of 223,000 jobs and a fall in the unemployment rate to 5.3%, its lowest level in 7 years. The drop in the unemployment, however, has also been attributed to 432,000 people who left the labour force. The IMF also recently reduced its global growth forecast to 3.3% from 3.5% in April citing weakness in the U.S. economy.

Overall we expect to see better performance from European stocks, and concerns in China will determine whether we are poised for a period of stronger global macro data.

BRACKENHAM GLOBAL BALANCED FUND

Investment Objective

The Brackenham Global Balanced Fund (the "Fund") aims to provide capital growth.

Fund Performance

Note: The Fund has no benchmark. Figures are quoted gross of Investment Manager and AIFM fees.

Since inception (15 March 2015) the Fund's performance has been relatively flat. Due to the conservative approach adopted by the investment managers and the fact that the Fund is at its inception stage, a level performance result was expected during the first quarter of the Fund's existence.

Fund Outlook

The Fund was approved by the South African Financial Services Board in May 2015.

Due to the fact that the Fund is at its inception stage and additional investors will be added to the Fund in the short to medium term, short-term performance is difficult to predict. As new investments are received, the investment managers will look for opportunities to acquire assets at reasonable prices which will assist in providing positive growth during the remainder of the year.

APS GLOBAL FLEXIBLE FUND OF FUNDS

Investment Objective

The investment objective of APS Global Flexible Fund of Funds (the "Fund") is to provide long-term capital growth by diversifying investments across various asset classes providing the opportunity for real capital growth. The Fund will not have any particular geographic or sectoral focus and intends to invest principally in transferable securities in the form of cash and/or cash equivalents, global equities, real estate investment trusts, global bonds, global equity linked securities which are listed on Recognised Markets.

Fund Performance

Note: The Fund has no benchmark. Figures are quoted gross of Investment Manager and AIFM fees.

The Fund launched on 7 May 2015 and so no benchmark is provided.

Fund Outlook

During the second quarter of 2015, assets were transferred into the Fund. To date, the assets in the Fund amount to just under $50m. The current asset allocation in the Fund reflects exposure to the global equity market of around 47% while the exposure to bonds is 18%. The Fund holds a significant allocation to cash of 28% and the balance of 7% is invested in the global listed property market. The Fund is currently well diversified across all four major asset classes but the cash holding is elevated so that a more conservative approach is adopted while uncertainty around Greece and the state intervention in the Chinese equity market raises the level of volatility in the short-term. Inflows into the Fund are expected in the second half of 2015 as and when flows are received into the APS Funds of Funds that is domiciled in South Africa.

COUNTERPOINT GLOBAL EQUITY FUND

Investment Objective

Counterpoint Global Equity Fund (the "Fund") endeavours to provide investors with long-term capital growth.

Fund Performance

The Fund launched on 2 June 2015 and so no performance graph or commentary is included.

Fund Outlook

The Fund commenced trading on 2 June 2015 with an initial capital amount of some $4m.

Our initial strategy, in the first instance, was to gain some general market or beta exposure via the Sanlam World Equity Tracker Fund.

Thereafter, we are utilising the cash in a disciplined manner to gain exposure to quality companies that are reasonably priced. Our basic thesis/approach is to focus on companies that have the potential to increase their intrinsic value over the long term. In other words, we would rather pay a fair price to own a high quality franchise than a pay a cheap price for a low quality business.

To this end we have made a start in our stock picking concentrating on the above qualitative factors and making sure that that a fair price has been paid for the shares.

Given the current volatility surrounding the Greek issue, combined with the increasing likelihood of higher US interest rates and the Chinese stock market sell-off, we have chosen a "phasing in" strategy. This explains the high cash levels as at the end of the month.

Our strategy going forward is to build the portfolio around the stock picking approach mentioned above. The speed at which this happens will depend on the opportunities presented in the anticipated near term volatility of global equity markets. Longer term, we anticipate that the Sanlam World Equity Tracker Fund will be sold down in favour of individual quality companies.

IFRS 9 Financial Instruments: Classification and Measurement ("IFRS 9")

IFRS 9, issued on 24 July 2014 is the IASB's replacement of IAS 39. IFRS 9 includes requirements for recognition and measurement, impairment, derecognition and general hedge accounting.

The IASB completed its project to replace IAS 39 in phases, adding to the standard in each phase. The complete standard issued on 24 July 2014 includes requirements previously issued and additional amendments to incorporate a new expected loss impairment model and to introduce limited amendments to the classification and measurement requirements for financial assets. This version of IFRS 9 supersedes all previous versions and is mandatorily effective for periods beginning on or after 1 January 2018 with early adoption permitted (subject to local endorsement requirements). For a limited period, previous versions of IFRS 9 may be adopted early if not already done so provided the relevant date of initial application is before 1 February 2015.

IFRS 9 uses business models and contractual cash flow characteristics to determine whether a financial asset is measured at amortised cost, fair value through profit or loss or fair value through other comprehensive income, replacing the four category classification in IAS 39. The approach is also based on how an entity manages its financial instruments (its business model) and the contractual cash flow characteristics of the financial assets. Most of the requirements for financial liabilities were carried forward unchanged from IAS 39. However, some changes were made to the fair value option for financial liabilities to address the issue of own credit risk.

IFRS 9 introduces a substantially-reformed model for hedge accounting with enhanced disclosures about risk management activity.

As part of IFRS 9, the IASB has introduced a new, expected loss impairment model that will require more timely recognition of expected credit losses. Specifically, the new standard requires entities to account for expected credit losses from when financial instruments are first recognised and it lowers the threshold for recognition of full lifetime expected losses.

The Directors are currently assessing the impact of the amendment on the financial statements of the Company.

Investments whose values are based on quoted market prices in active markets, and therefore classified within level 1, include active listed equities, exchange traded derivatives and collective investment schemes. The AIFM does not adjust the quoted price for these instruments nor does it apply a discount to securities where the volume traded in the market is low relative to the Fund's holding.

Financial instruments that trade in markets that are not considered to be active but are valued based on quoted market prices, dealer quotations or alternative pricing sources supported by observable inputs are classified within level 2 (i.e. OTC derivatives such as forward currency contracts). As level 2 investments include positions that are not traded in active markets and/or are subject to transfer restrictions, valuations may be adjusted to reflect illiquidity and/or non-transferability, which are generally based on available market information.

Investments classified within level 3, if any, have significant unobservable inputs, as they trade infrequently.

4 Fair value of financial instruments (continued)

Significant transfers between levels 1, 2 and 3

There were no significant transfers between levels 1, 2 and 3 of the fair value hierarchy for financial assets recognised at fair value for the period ended 30 June 2015.

5 Assets and liabilities not carried at fair value but for which fair value is disclosed

For all non-financial assets and liabilities at fair value through profit and loss, their carrying values are a reasonable approximation of fair value.

8 Efficient portfolio management

The Funds may enter into forward foreign currency contracts for efficient portfolio management. Forward foreign currency exchange contracts are used to hedge against anticipated future changes in exchange rates which otherwise might either adversely affect the value of the Funds' portfolio securities or adversely affect the price of securities which the Funds intend to purchase at a later date. The Funds may use forward currency contracts to alter the currency characteristics of the underlying assets of the Funds.

The Funds may also enter into futures contracts for efficient portfolio management. The primary purposes for which the Funds use futures contracts are cash equalisation, hedging and return enhancement. The purpose of cash equalisation is to expose uninvested cash within the Funds to equity market-like returns and ensure that the Funds' liquid assets are utilised as though invested in the markets. Hedging is used by the Funds to limit or control risks, such as adverse movements in exchange rates and interest returns. Return enhancement can be accomplished through the use of futures in the Funds. By purchasing certain instruments, the Funds may more effectively achieve the desired portfolio characteristics that assist the Funds in meeting their investment objectives.
